

Available Immediately

Evaluator (GSR)

The Center for the Study of Racism, Social Justice & Health seeks a graduate student researcher (GSR) to conduct a process evaluation. This position will begin immediately and continue through July 31, 2022, with a possibility of extension beyond that date. This work is part of a project to build a web-based set of COVID prevention and intervention tools, including a COVID equity dashboard, and to train selected pilot communities in using the tools.

The purpose of the evaluation is the extent to which the implemented project aligns with the conceptual model and it will identify any gaps and issues to address to strengthen the intervention and improve its likelihood of achieving a greater impact. Specific responsibilities and qualifications are outlined below.

RESPONSIBILITIES

The evaluator(s) will work with the project team, advisory board and local community to conduct process evaluations of the implementation of the intervention, evaluating it and expanding its uptake in communities. Key responsibilities include but are not limited to:

- Assess the extent to which the developed set of tools adheres to the conceptual model on which it is based
- Assess the feasibility, cultural appropriateness, and proper implementation of the system.
- Contribute to related manuscripts and presentations
- Submit final report summarizing the results
- Provide input to the project team as it is learned for continuous quality improvement

QUALIFICATIONS

Eligibility

To be eligible, candidates must:

- Have at least a master's degree or equivalent in a relevant field (e.g., business, public health)
- Have at least two years of relevant experience conducting evaluations
- Meet all department and UCLA eligibility requirements for hire during the COVID-19 pandemic
- Be available to start immediately

The ideal candidate will also:

- Communicate effectively with diverse members of an interdisciplinary team
- Be a responsible and reliable employee
- Be comfortable working independently and seeking guidance or assistance as needed
- Have good organizational skills

To apply, send the following items in a single email to RacismHealthAdmin@ph.ucla.edu. The review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Pay will be commensurate with experience.
